CORONAVIRUS (COVID-19) AND BUSINESS CONTINUITY AT ALPHA REAL CAPITAL

The Alpha Real Capital group, including TIME Investments, continues to monitor the coronavirus outbreak including updates from the UK Government, the World Health Organization (WHO), Centres for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and local public health departments.

We are leveraging a variety of well-established policies, plans, and procedures to ensure the health and well-being of our entire workforce and the continuity of our business operations. Our business continuity plan outlines how we would address situations that may impact our valued stakeholders, critical business functions, and operations.

Our business continuity plan is comprised of various actions that we can deploy to ensure the continuity of our services. These may include but are not limited to work-from-home or transfer-of-work protocols for all functions. Please note as at 23 March 2020, all Alpha staff are successfully working-from-home in line with the Government's current guidance.

At this stage, our assessment is that we will continue to be able to maintain normal business operations. However, the coronavirus represents an unprecedented global pandemic for which the outcomes are uncertain. As a result, our position and our response to the coronavirus remain under daily review. Consequently, our position may be subject to change in line with Government recommendation.

We understand that your business may be facing challenges at this time, if you have questions or concerns, do reach out using the details below for either Mark Rattigan or Karl Devon-Lowe.

We hope you, and those close to you stay safe and well.
